21. Hoogebeintum (Friesland), comb, antler, found in 1928 in an inhumation grave in the terp. Seen at the FM, Leeuwarden. Date ca. 700. The comb is broken and badly damaged. According to Düwel/Tempel (1968/70:368) some runes can be read on one half of the comb: ?nlu.

The Hoogebeintum comb.

The other half of the comb shows a few lines which may be taken for a bindrune consisting of three runes. Two d runes are connected by a zig-zag line, perhaps rendering ded, possibly 1 or 3 sg. pret. ind. 'did, made', OFrīs pret. dede, inf. duā 'to do, make'. The regular form would be dede, cf. Bammesberger 1991<sup>a</sup>:305-308.
